PART 1: FREEDOM OF INFORMATION OVERVIEW

Another record year for FOI Access

The Annual Report on Freedom of Information is both a public record of government compliance with the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (FOI Act), and an insightful account of changes to community engagement in political processes.

This government's commitment to openness and accountability through FOI is clearly demonstrated in this report, with more people getting access to documents more often. In the 2008/09 year, there were 28,698 FOI requests - the highest number ever reported.

This is an increase of 66.6% since the 2000/01 financial year, the first full year of operation following the Labor Government's first wave of reforms to open up FOI.

This year, access to documents was provided to applicants in part or in full in 97.4% of cases. Only 2.6% of all access decisions required exemptions to be applied in full. In 60.6% of decisions to grant less than full access, at least one of the exemptions was applied to protect information concerning personal affairs of individuals.

Moreover, the quality and rigor of access decisions remains high despite the ever growing increase in requests. The number of challenges to access decisions through internal review increased by less than 1% compared with a 13% increase in the number of FOI requests.

Although applicants are exercising their right of review by the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal, no agency has reported the overturning of a decision on access by the Tribunal during 2008/2009.

I see these as positive signs of appropriate decision making and constructive communication between agencies and applicants.

In addition to the implementation of all administrative recommendations of the Ombudsman's report of 2006, the government has continued to improve the flow of information by publishing quarterly reports about ministerial overseas travel, transcripts of the Premier's media interviews and information about police speed cameras. It is now a requirement that departments proactively publish documents commonly sought under Freedom of Information on their websites every six months.

While the legislative changes recommended by the Ombudsman were defeated in the Legislative Council, the government remains committed to administrative and other improvements. I have asked my department to provide training to FOI decision makers across the State and I have also issued revised guidelines to FOI officers outlining the requirements of appropriate decision making under the FOI Act.

I would like to congratulate the 1,000 agencies across Victoria involved in FOI as well as applicants for their part in ensuring the FOI Act lives up to its objectives and remains relevant to the community.

PART 2: USE OF FREEDOM OF INFORMATION

The statistical information contained in this report was collated from data provided to the Department of Justice from 1,000 State Government bodies subject to the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (the Act). The statistical data was requested by the Department and provided on a uniform basis by agencies, in accordance with the requirements of sections 64 and 65AA of the Act.

1. Number of Requests, Internal Reviews and Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal Appeals

Table 1 provides a summary of the total number of Freedom of Information (FOI) requests, internal reviews and Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal (VCAT) appeals, for each period since 1984/1985. The number of requests received in each year is represented graphically in Chart 1.

The number of requests reported in 2008/2009 showed an increase of 13.2% on the figure for the previous year to 28,698 while the number of internal reviews requested increased by 0.6% to 340.

The number of internal reviews received was 1.18% of the number of FOI requests received. This is a decrease on the 2007/2008 figure of 1.33% and the lowest ever reported. Original decisions on access were confirmed in 73.6% of internal review decisions made.

There were 195 VCAT appeals lodged in 2008/2009, an increase of 33.6%. Decisions made by the Tribunal resulted in agency decisions being fully confirmed in 83.8% of cases. The VCAT partially upheld agency decisions in 16.2% of appeals decided. No agency reported a decision by the VCAT to grant full access to documents in 2008/2009. Sixty-nine appeals were withdrawn.

2. Access Decisions on Requests

The level of full access to documents as a proportion of all access decisions made in 2008/2009 was 76.5% which was a decrease of 2.1% from 2007/2008. There was also an increase of 1.9% in partial access decisions to 20.9% in 2008/2009. This means that applicants gained access to documents in 97.4% of requests where access decisions were made. Access was refused outright in just 2.6% of these requests.

In 2008/2009, personal requests represented 60% of total requests received while non-personal requests represented the remaining 40%.

Charts 2 to 4 illustrate the outcomes of requests, reviews and appeals in 2008/2009.

TABLE 2: ACCESS DECISIONS ON REQUESTS

It does not include situations where a request was received and one of the following applied: the applicant did not proceed with the request; the request was made in 2008/2009 but had not been decided at the end of the reporting period; the agency did not hold the documents sought; or the agency and the applicant agreed on a form of access satisfactory to the applicant outside the FOI process

3. Most Frequently Cited Exemptions

The five most frequently cited exemptions in original decisions on access in 2008/2009, in order of most used to least used were:

- Section 33: the protection of an individual's personal affairs;
- Section 30: internal working documents containing opinions, advice or recommendations of officials or Ministers where it would not be in the public interest for those documents to be released;
- Section 38: where a secrecy or confidentiality provision of an enactment other than the FOI Act applies to particular documents;
- Section 35: information obtained in confidence by government bodies; and
- Section 31: law enforcement documents.

4. Fees and Charges for Requests

The statistics provided suggest that fees are being waived or reduced in approximately 31% of cases. This is based on the total number of requests (28,698) multiplied by $22.70. If the fee were charged in each case, revenue received from fees would have been $651,444.60. However, fee revenue reported was $448,852.55.

It is difficult to determine exactly how much was waived in access charges. Often where charges are to be waived agencies do not calculate the actual charges that would have been applicable. If the total charges revenue of $435,158.50 were divided across the 24,379 requests where access was granted, each request would have incurred $17.85 in access charges.

5. 'Top 30' Agencies

Of the 1,000 agencies that provided the information for this report, agencies in the 'Top 30' received 83.6% of requests. Sixty-three percent of requests received by the 'Top 30' agencies concerned personal documents. Table 4 identifies the relevant 30 agencies.

PART 3: DETAILED STATISTICS FOR EACH AGENCY

6. Requests Received by Agencies

Agencies often receive applications which do not proceed for a number of reasons. This can be for reasons such as the applicant not paying the application fee or the request for information not being relevant to the agency. There are also instances where the applicant is provided with the information without needing to proceed with the formal FOI process. While many of these requests can require a commitment of time and resources by the FOI officer, they are technically not requests under the Act.

The Attorney-General's February 2000 FOI Guidelines to assist in the administration of the FOI Act require agencies to look to providing information outside the FOI process. The existence of the Act should not mean that the formal process provided under it is the only means of obtaining access to documents or information of an agency.

Appendix A provides details of the number and type of requests received by agencies subject to FOI. The outcomes include all requests decided in 2008/2009, including those received in the previous year, which were unfinalised at the end of 2007/2008. Due to a fire, the Manningham City Council was unable to provide information for inclusion in this report.

7. Requests for Internal Review

If an agency decides not to grant full access to a document, the applicant has a right to appeal the decision. The first stage of appeal is usually an 'internal review'. This requires a written request to the principal officer of the agency asking that a fresh decision on the request be made.

Appendix B shows the outcomes of internal reviews for those agencies that received requests for internal reviews in 2008/2009. The outcomes refer to whether the original decisions made by FOI officers were confirmed, varied or overturned. When an original decision is varied under review, the fresh decision may make a minor variation to the original decision, or may involve the disclosure of significantly more information. Reporting by agencies does not differentiate between these two potential outcomes.

Where an original decision is shown as being overturned, this means the applicant was granted full access to the documents in question.

8. Appeals to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal

If an applicant is not satisfied with the outcome of an internal review, he or she may then appeal to the VCAT.

Appendix C lists those agencies that made decisions which were the subject of appeals lodged or decided in 2008/2009. It shows the number of VCAT appeals lodged for each agency and the outcomes of any appeals decided.

The outcome data in this table is based on the number and type of all decisions handed down by the Tribunal in 2008/2009, irrespective of the year in which the appeals were lodged. This is because the time taken for the appeal process, including mediation and consultation, can vary considerably depending on the circumstances of each appeal.

The VCAT process includes conciliation in which an applicant and respondent are called before the Tribunal in a preliminary conference to resolve issues in dispute before a case proceeds to hearing. Appeals may be withdrawn if a resolution is achieved.

9. Exemptions Cited

Where an agency refuses to allow an applicant access to documents the Act requires the agency to give reasons for its refusal. In refusing access, an agency is limited to the situations provided for in the Act (exemptions). Appendix D lists all of the exemptions cited to applicants by agencies when refusing access.

10. Decision Makers

The Act operates at the agency level. It is an official of that agency who makes the initial decision and a different official (or the principal officer) who reviews a decision if requested by the applicant.

Appendix E names each official, specifying their title and the number of times they made decisions to grant access in full, grant access in part or refuse access to documents requested. It also names each internal review officer and the number of times original decisions were confirmed, varied or overturned.

11. Fees and Charges

In 2008/2009 the FOI Act required a request for access to documents to be accompanied by an application fee of $22.70. Any other monies payable in respect of a request after the application fee has been paid are referred to in the Act as "charges". This explains the distinction between the fees and charges in Appendix F. Charges are levied once an access decision has been made. They apply to supplying copies of documents, providing access in other forms, supervising access to documents, and searching for documents.

The Act provides that fees can be waived or reduced where payment would cause hardship. Similarly, charges can be waived where the applicant is impecunious and the request is for personal documents, as well as in some other situations. The decision on whether or not to waive a fee or charge rests with the agency.

12. Retrospective Access

Section 67(3) of the Act requires ministers to include advice on the practicality of extending the period of retrospective access. Personal documents are not subject to a time limit but non-personal documents created prior to 1978 or, in the case of councils, 1989, are not covered by the Act. As access to documents prior to these dates is rarely sought, there is no demonstrable need for extending retrospective access.

PART 4: HOW TO USE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION

13. What is Freedom of Information

Since 1983 the Act has given the community the right to apply for information held by Ministers, state government departments, local councils, most semi-government agencies and statutory authorities, public hospitals, universities, TAFE colleges and schools. Where a service has been outsourced by a government body, access to documents relating to the service would generally still be possible where the service is provided under contract or the agency is the contract manager, unless some specific provision otherwise applies.

14. More information

The Victorian Government Freedom of Information Online website (www.foi.vic.gov.au) provides guidelines and general information to assist access to government documents by using the Act. Information on this website includes the contact details of agencies subject to the Act. Applicants may download FOI request forms and locate the agencies that hold the documents they seek to access. They can also make and pay application fees for requests to any of the eleven government departments or Victoria Police online.

The website also includes an explanation of freedom of information, who makes FOI decisions, details of what information is (and is not) available, how to apply, costs, rights of complaint, frequently asked questions and copies of Freedom of Information Annual Reports.

The data in this table is based on the number and type of decisions handed down by the Tribunal in 2008/2009, whether or not those decisions were as a result of appeals lodged in that year or previous years. This is necessary given the time that can often pass between an appeal being lodged, the mediation and other processes that can occur prior to a formal hearing, and a final decision being handed down by the Tribunal.

<sup>** &#</sup>x27;VCAT Denied Access' covers situations where the Tribunal affirmed the agency's decision; a case was struck out; or the matter was dismissed.

<sup>*** &#</sup>x27;Other' includes cases that were withdrawn or settled prior to the VCAT hearing or not yet decided by the Tribunal and includes one 'no documents' matter.
