FOREWORD

I have much pleasure in submitting to both Houses of Parliament, the 2010 Freedom of Information Annual Report.

This report reflects the operation of freedom of information in Victoria for the 2009/2010 financial year and has been prepared in accordance with sections 64 and 65AA of the Freedom of Information Act 1982.

PART 1: FREEDOM OF INFORMATION OVERVIEW

During 2009/10 yet another record was set for Freedom of Information with 31,343 requests received by Victorian Government agencies - a 9.2% increase on the previous year, continuing the trend that has more Victorians getting more information, more often.

This is the eleventh Annual Report on Freedom of Information that I have had the responsibility of tabling in Parliament, in compliance with the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (the Act). In that time, the number of FOI requests has increased by 82%, since the 2000/2001 financial year.

It is the expectation of this government that the FOI culture is one of openness and integrity. I am pleased to report that in 2009/2010 access to documents was provided to applicants in part or in full in 97.6% of cases, with only 2.4% of cases requiring exemptions in full. In 72.6% of decisions granting less than full access, at least one of the exemptions applied was to protect information concerning the personal affairs of individuals.

Despite the increase in the number of requests, the quality and rigor of decision making within agencies has been maintained, both for original decisions and for internal review decisions. The proportion of requests for internal review to the number of FOI requests received was 1.36%. Original agency decisions were confirmed at internal review for 73.1% of requests and in 83.7% of VCAT cases.

A number of steps were taken to further improve the administration of Freedom of Information. In December 2009, I issued revised Guidelines on the Responsibilities and Obligations of Principal Officers and Agencies that addressed a range of matters including minimum standards for processes and the principles of good administrative decision making.

The Department of Justice also held FOI Administration and Practice seminars throughout Victoria. I am pleased that so many officers took the opportunity to develop their FOI skills and knowledge as part of a commitment to improve the quality and consistency of decision making.

Another series of FOI Practice Notes are now available on the FOI Online website, to provide guidance, promote consistency of approach in responding to FOI requests, detail the rights of applicants and help applicants understand how decisions are made.

PART 2: USE OF FREEDOM OF INFORMATION

The statistical information contained in this report was collated from data provided to the Department of Justice from 977 State Government bodies subject to the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (the Act). The statistical data was requested by the department and provided on a uniform basis by agencies, in accordance with the requirements of sections 64 and 65AA of the Act.

2.1 Number of Requests, Internal Reviews and Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal Appeals

Table 1 provides a summary of the total number of Freedom of Information (FOI) requests, internal reviews and Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal (VCAT) appeals, for each period since 1984/1985. The number of requests received in each year is represented graphically in Chart 1.

The number of requests reported in 2009/2010 showed an increase of 9.2% on the figure for the previous year to 31,343.

The number of internal reviews requested increased to 427 which was 1.36% of the number of FOI requests received. This is an increase on the 2008/2009 figure of 1.18% which was the lowest ever reported. Original decisions on access were confirmed in 73.2% of internal review decisions made.

There were 190 VCAT appeals lodged in 2009/2010, a slight decrease on the 195 lodged in 2008/2009. A total of 43 cases were decided by VCAT. Agency decisions were fully confirmed in 83.7% of cases. VCAT partially upheld agency decisions in 14% of appeals decided and access was granted in full in one case. Agencies also reported that 118 appeals were withdrawn.

1984/1985	4,702	224	112

2.2 Access Decisions on Requests

The level of full access to documents as a proportion of all access decisions made in 2009/2010 was 77.3% which was an increase of 0.8% from 2008/2009. There was a decrease of 0.6% in partial access decisions to 20.3% in 2009/2010. This means that applicants gained access to documents in 97.6% of requests where access decisions were made. Access was denied in full in just 2.4% of decisions.

In 2009/2010, personal requests (for information mainly pertaining to the applicants themselves) represented 59% of total requests received while non-personal requests represented the remaining 41%.

Charts 2 to 4 illustrate the outcomes of requests, reviews and appeals in 2009/2010.

Table 2: Access Decisions on FOI Requests

Decision	Year 2009/10	% of Access Decisions	Year 2008/2009	% of Access Decisions
Full Access	20,691	77.3	19,137	76.5
Part Access	5,431	20.3	5,242	20.9
Access Denied	636	2.4	645	2.6

Note: This table reflects access decisions made in 2009/2010. It does not include situations where a request was received and one of the following applied: the applicant did not proceed with the request; the request was made in 2009/2010 but had not been decided at the end of the reporting period; the agency did not hold the documents sought; or the agency and the applicant agreed on a form of access satisfactory to the applicant outside the FOI process

2.3 Most Frequently Cited Exemptions

The five most frequently cited exemptions in original decisions on access in 2009/2010, in order of most used to least used were:

- Section 33: the protection of an individual's personal affairs
- Section 30: internal working documents containing opinions, advice or recommendations of officials or Ministers where it would not be in the public interest for those documents to be released
- Section 35: information obtained in confidence by government bodies
- Section 38: where a secrecy or confidentiality provision of an enactment other than the FOI Act applies to particular documents
- Section 31: law enforcement

2.4 Fees and Charges for Requests

The statistics provided suggest that fees are being waived or reduced for approximately 28% of requests. This is based on the total number of requests (31,343) multiplied by $23.40. If the fee were charged for each request, revenue received from fees would have been $733,426.20. However, fee revenue reported was $526,467.88.

It is difficult to determine exactly how much was waived in access charges. Often where charges are to be waived agencies do not calculate the actual charges that would have been applicable. If the total charges revenue of $463,959.01 were divided across the 26,122 requests where access was granted, each request would have incurred $17.76 in access charges.

2.5 'Top 30' Agencies

Of the 977 agencies that provided the information for this report, agencies in the 'Top 30' received 84.2% of requests. The 'Top 30' agencies reported that 61.2% of these requests concerned personal documents.

PART 3: NOTES ON AGENCY STATISTICS

3.1 Requests Received by Agencies

Agencies often receive FOI requests which do not proceed for a number of reasons, such as applicants not paying the application fee or requests which, even after seeking further information from applicants, are not clear enough for agencies to identify the documents to which access is sought. While many of these requests can require a commitment of time and resources by the agency, they are technically not requests under the Act.

The Attorney-General's December 2009 Guidelines on the Responsibilities and Obligations of Principal Officers and Agencies reiterated the requirement in earlier guidelines for agencies to provide information outside the FOI process where possible. The existence of the Act should not mean that the formal process provided under it is the only means of obtaining access to documents or information of an agency.

Appendix A provides details of the number and type of FOI requests received by agencies. The outcomes include all requests decided in 2009/2010, including those received in the previous year, which were unfinalised at the end of 2008/2009.

3.2 Requests for Internal Review

If an agency decides not to grant full access to a document, the applicant has a right to appeal the decision. The first stage of appeal is usually an 'internal review'. This requires a written request to the principal officer of the agency asking that a fresh decision on the request be made.

Appendix B shows the outcomes of internal reviews for those agencies that received or finalised requests for internal reviews in 2009/2010. The outcomes refer to whether the original decisions made by FOI officers were confirmed, varied or overturned. When an original decision is varied at internal review, the fresh decision may make a minor variation to the original decision, or may involve the disclosure of significantly more information. Reporting by agencies does not differentiate between these two potential outcomes.

Where an original decision is shown as being overturned, this means the applicant was granted full access to the documents in question.

3.3 Appeals to the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal

If an applicant is not satisfied with the outcome of an internal review, he or she may then appeal to the VCAT.

Appendix C lists those agencies that made decisions which were the subject of appeals lodged or decided in 2009/2010. It shows the number of VCAT appeals lodged for each agency and the outcomes of any appeals decided.

The outcome data in this table is based on the number and type of all decisions handed down by the Tribunal in 2009/2010, irrespective of the year in which the appeals were lodged. This is because the time taken for the appeal process, including mediation and consultation, can vary considerably depending on the circumstances of each appeal.

The VCAT process allows for the early resolution of appeals through methods such as mediation and compulsory conference. If a resolution is reached through one of these processes the appeal may be withdrawn with the Tribunal's permission.

3.4 Exemptions Cited

When agencies deny access to documents which are exempt from disclosure under the Act they are required to give reasons. Appendix D lists the exemption provisions cited to applicants by agencies when denying access.

3.5 Decision Makers

The Act operates at the agency level. Officers of the relevant agencies make the initial decisions and different officers review decisions when applicants seek internal review.

Appendix E names each officer, specifying their title and the number of decisions to grant access in full, grant access in part or deny access to documents requested. It also names each internal review officer and the number of times original decisions were confirmed, varied or overturned.

3.6 Fees and Charges

In 2009/2010 the Act required a request for access to documents to be accompanied by an application fee of $23.40. Access charges (charges) are levied when an access decision has been made. Charges apply to supplying copies of documents, providing access in other forms, supervising access to documents, searching for documents and producing documents from electronic data.

The Act provides that fees be waived or reduced where payment would cause hardship. Similarly, charges shall be waived where the applicant is impecunious and the request is for personal documents. The Act also sets out other conditions under which access charges are not applicable.

3.7 Retrospective Access

Section 67(3) of the Act requires ministers to include advice on the practicality of extending the period of retrospective access. Personal documents are not subject to a time limit but non-personal documents created prior to 1978 or, in the case of councils, 1989, are not covered by the Act. As access to documents prior to these dates is rarely sought and any demand is likely to decrease as time goes on, there is no demonstrable need for extending retrospective access.

PART 4: HOW TO USE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION

4.1 What is Freedom of Information

Since 1983 the Act has given the community the right to apply for access to documents held by Ministers, state government departments, local councils, most semi-government agencies and statutory authorities, public hospitals, universities, TAFE colleges and schools. Where a service has been outsourced by a government body, it is possible to seek access to documents relating to the service where it is provided under contract or the agency is the contract manager, unless some specific provision otherwise applies.

4.2 Internet Resources

The Victorian Government Freedom of Information Online website (www.foi.vic.gov.au) provides guidelines and general information in relation to seeking access to government documents by using the Act. Information on this website includes the contact details of agencies subject to the Act. Applicants may download FOI request forms and locate the agencies that hold the documents they seek to access. They can also make requests and pay application fees to any of the eleven government departments or Victoria Police online.

The website also includes an explanation of freedom of information, who makes FOI decisions, details of what information is (and is not) available, how to apply, costs, rights of complaint, frequently asked questions and copies of Freedom of Information Annual Reports.

¹ The data in this table is based on the number and type of decisions handed down by the Tribunal in 2009/2010, whether or not those decisions were as a result of appeals lodged in that year or previous years. This is necessary given the time that can often pass between an appeal being lodged, the mediation and other processes that can occur prior to a formal hearing, and a final decision being handed down by the Tribunal.

² 'Appeals Withdrawn from VCAT' figures are also included in the 'Other' column.

³ 'VCAT Denied Access' covers situations where the Tribunal affirmed the agency's decision; a case was struck out; or the matter was dismissed. This category also includes one case where an individual appealed against an agency's decision to release personal information and VCAT confirmed the agency's decision.

⁴ 'Other' includes cases that were withdrawn or settled prior to the VCAT hearing or not yet decided by the Tribunal and includes one appeal regarding a "no documents" decision.
