FREEDOM OF INFORMATION – enquiries from the public – correspondence between agency officers – correspondence from a third party with an agency

All references to legislation in this document are to the Freedom of Information Act 1982 (Vic) (FOI Act) unless otherwise stated.

Notice of Decision

I have conducted a review under section 49F of the Agency's decision to refuse access to documents requested by the Applicant under the FOI Act.

While I am not satisfied the documents are exempt from release under section 35(1)(b), I am satisfied certain information is exempt under section 33(1).

Accordingly, my decision on the Applicant's request differs from the Agency's decision in that I have decided to release additional information in the documents to the Applicant.

Where I am satisfied it is practicable to provide the Applicant with an edited copy of a documents with irrelevant information deleted in accordance with section 25, access is granted to the document in part. Where I am satisfied it is not practicable to do so, access is refused in full.

The Schedule of Documents in Annexure 1 sets out my decision in relation to each document.

A marked-up copy of certain documents subject to review will also be provided to the Agency showing information to be released in accordance with my decision.

My reasons for decision follow.

Joanne Kummrow
Public Access Deputy Commissioner
9 June 2022

Reasons for Decision

Background to review

1. The Applicant made a request to the Agency for access to the following documents:

I wish copies of all emails between [named individual] ([date range])
And [Association]'s [named individual] and or [named individual] and or [Association] general
Also, any diary appointments and notes from such in regards to meetings arranged for the above.
I wish copies of all emails between [named individual] ([date range])
And [Association]'s [named individual] and or [named individual] and or [Association] general
So any diary appointments and notes from such in regards to meetings arranged for the above.
2. The Agency identified 145 documents totalling 338 pages falling within the terms of the Applicant's request and refused access to all documents in full under sections 33(1) and 35(1)(b). The Agency's decision letter sets out the reasons for its decision.

Review

3. The Applicant sought review by the Information Commissioner under section 49A(1) of the Agency's decision to refuse access.
4. During the review, the Applicant narrowed the scope of the review to exclude the names and contact information of third parties. Therefore, this information is irrelevant information for the purpose of section 25, which is discussed below.
5. I have examined a copy of the documents subject to review.
6. The Applicant and the Agency were invited to make a written submission under section 49H(2) in relation to the review.
7. I have considered all communications and submissions received from the parties.
8. In undertaking my review, I have had regard to the object of the FOI Act, which is to create a general right of access to information in the possession of the Government or other public bodies, limited only by exceptions and exemptions necessary to protect essential public interests, privacy and business affairs.
9. I note Parliament's intention the FOI Act must be interpreted so as to further the object of the Act and any discretions conferred by the Act must be exercised, as far as possible, so as to facilitate and promote the disclosure of information in a timely manner and at the lowest reasonable cost.

Preliminary view provided to Agency

10. On [date], OVIC advised the Agency the Commissioners' preliminary view was sections 33(1) and 35(1)(b) do not apply to the documents in full. The Agency was invited to provide a further submission or make a fresh decision under section 49M.
11. On [date], the Agency advised it did not intend to make a fresh decision under section 49M(1) and provided a further submission in response to the preliminary view.

Review of exemptions

Section 33(1) – Documents affecting personal privacy of third parties

12. A document is exempt under section 33(1) if two conditions are satisfied:
- (a) disclosure of the document under the FOI Act would ‘involve’ the disclosure of information relating to the ‘personal affairs’ of a person other than the Applicant (a third party);¹ and
 - (b) such disclosure would be ‘unreasonable’.

Do the documents contain the personal affairs information of individuals other than the Applicant?

13. Information relating to a person’s ‘personal affairs’ includes information that identifies any person or discloses their address or location. It also includes any information from which such information may be reasonably determined.²
14. A document will disclose a third party’s personal affairs information if it is capable, either directly or indirectly, of identifying that person. As the nature of disclosure under the FOI Act is unrestricted and unconditional, this is to be interpreted by reference to the capacity of any member of the public to identify a third party.³
15. Even where an applicant claims to know the identity of a third party, disclosure of their personal affairs information may still be unreasonable in the circumstances.⁴
16. The FOI Act does not place any restrictions on an applicant’s use or dissemination of documents obtained under FOI.⁵
17. As noted above, the Applicant does not seek access to names and direct contact information of third parties. Accordingly, such information is not subject to review. The remaining personal affairs information comprises position titles, initials, signatures and information about third parties in their private lives, including their personal experiences and views.
18. Accordingly, I am satisfied the documents contain the personal affairs information of third parties.

Would release of the personal affairs information be unreasonable in the circumstances?

19. Consideration of whether disclosure of personal affairs information in a document would be unreasonable involves balancing the public interest in the disclosure of official information with the interest in protecting a third party’s personal privacy in the particular circumstances.
20. In Victoria Police v Marke,⁶ the Victorian Court of Appeal held there is ‘no absolute bar to providing access to documents which relate to the personal affairs of others’, and the exemption under section 33(1) ‘arises only in cases of unreasonable disclosure’ and ‘[w]hat amounts to an unreasonable disclosure of someone’s personal affairs will necessarily vary from case to case’. The Court further held, ‘[t]he protection of privacy, which lies at the heart of s 33(1), is an important right that the FOI Act properly protects. However, an individual’s privacy can be invaded to a lesser or greater degree’.⁷

⁷ Ibid at [79].

21. In Coulson v Department of Premier and Cabinet,⁸ the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal (VCAT) held that whether or not an agency officer's personal affairs information is exempt under section 33(1) must be considered in the context of the particular circumstances of each matter.

22. Therefore, the proper application of section 33(1) involves consideration of 'all matters relevant, logical and probative to the existence of conditions upon which the section is made to depend'.⁹

23. In the context of this matter, I have considered the following factors:

(a) The nature of the personal affairs information and the circumstances in which it was obtained

Most of the information in the documents is correspondence between members of the Association named in the request (the Association) and the Agency. Having reviewed the documents, I am satisfied the correspondence was sent by individuals on behalf of the Association rather than in their private capacity. As such, the entirety of the emails do not concern the personal affairs of the third parties who corresponded with the Agency.

Unless special circumstances apply, I am of the view it would not be unreasonable to disclose certain personal affairs information of an agency officer, regardless of their seniority, where an official document records them merely carrying out their usual professional duties or work responsibilities in their context of their employment.

The nature of the personal affairs information in many of the documents subject to review constitutes the personal experiences and views of third parties regarding their personal lives rather than in a professional capacity or through communications made to the Agency on behalf of the Association.

(b) The Applicant's interest in the information

The FOI Act provides a general right of access that can be exercised by any person, regardless of their motive or purpose for seeking access to a document. However, the reasons why an applicant seeks access to a document is a relevant consideration in determining whether disclosure would be unreasonable.¹⁰

The Applicant did not provide reasons to why they seek access to the personal affairs information in the documents.

(c) Whether any public interest would be promoted by release of the information

The Applicant did not provide any specific information as to any public interest that would be promoted by release of the personal affairs information in the documents.

In the circumstances, I am not satisfied there is an overriding public interest in the disclosure of the personal affairs information that outweighs the personal privacy of the relevant third parties. Nor is there information before me to demonstrate the public interest would be promoted by disclosure of the personal affairs information to the Applicant in the circumstances of this matter.

(d) Whether the individuals to whom the information relates object, or would be likely to object, to the release of the information

In determining whether disclosure of a document would involve the unreasonable disclosure of a third party's personal affairs information, where it is practicable and appropriate to do so, an agency must notify that person an FOI request has been received seeking access to a document containing their personal affairs information and seek their view as to whether it should be disclosed.

⁸ (Review and Regulation) [2018] VCAT 229.

The Agency consulted with third parties whose personal affairs information appears in the documents, as required under section 33(2B), and provided a summary of their responses for my consideration. While the view of a third party as to disclosure of their personal affairs information in an official document is a relevant factor, is not determinative.

The Agency did not consult with the third parties whose information appears in Document 145. Given the information obtained was likely incidental in the Agency contactor's involvement in the matter, I consider the relevant third parties would be likely to object to disclosure of their personal affairs information under the FOI Act, if consulted.

- (e) Whether disclosure of the information would, or would be reasonably likely to endanger the life or physical safety of any person¹¹

In determining whether the disclosure of a document would involve the unreasonable disclosure of information relating to the personal affairs of any person, I must take into account whether the disclosure of the information would, or would be reasonably likely to, endanger the life or physical safety of any person.¹² However, I do not consider this is a relevant factor in this matter.

24. Having weighed up the above factors and carefully considered the content of and circumstances surrounding the creation of the documents, I am satisfied disclosure of certain documents would involve the unreasonable disclosure of the personal affairs information of third parties. This includes their personal experiences recorded in the documents as well as photographs and their signatures.
25. However, I do not consider it would be unreasonable to disclose the position titles of Agency officers in the particular circumstances of this matter.
26. Accordingly, I am satisfied certain personal affairs information is exempt from release under section 33(1), as set out in the Schedule of Documents in Annexure 1.

Section 35(1)(b) – information communicated in confidence to an agency

27. A document is exempt under section 35(1)(b) if two conditions are satisfied:
- (a) disclosure would divulge information or matter communicated in confidence by or on behalf of a person or a government to an agency or a Minister; and
 - (b) disclosure would be contrary to the public interest as it would be reasonably likely to impair the ability of an agency or a Minister to obtain similar information in the future.
28. In summary, section 35(1)(b) is concerned with protecting the public interest in the free flow of information provided in confidence between an individual and an agency.

Was the information or matter communicated in confidence to the Agency?

29. Whether information was communicated in confidence is a question of fact.¹³

¹¹ Section 33(2A).

¹² Ibid.

¹³ Ryder v Booth [1985] VicRp 86; [1985] VR 869 at 883; XYZ v Victoria Police [2010] VCAT 255 at [264].

30. When determining whether information was communicated in confidence, it is necessary to consider the position from the perspective of the communicator.¹⁴
31. Confidentiality can be expressed or implied from the circumstances of the matter.¹⁵
32. The information exempted by the Agency under section 35(1)(b) concerns administrative matters in correspondence between the Association and the Agency about maintenance of infrastructure on the Mordialloc Creek as well as enquiries and administration of a boating licence and associated fees.
33. Many of the documents contain information communicated by a third party to the Agency, such as enquiries associated with the management and maintenance of infrastructure on the Mordialloc Creek, in circumstances where confidentiality can be inferred.
34. The Agency consulted with members of the Association who advised they expected their communications with the Agency would be kept confidential for various reasons.
35. Accordingly, I am satisfied the nature of these communications falls within the scope of information communicated in confidence to the Agency under section 35(1)(b).
36. Generally, section 35(1)(b) applies to information communicated to an agency from an external source rather than internal communications between agency staff carrying out their usual duties and responsibilities. However, section 35(1)(b) may apply to information communicated in confidence between agency officers in certain circumstances. For example, where an agency officer provides confidential information to their agency to assist in the investigation of a workplace incident or dispute.¹⁶
37. Certain documents do not contain a direct communication from an external third party. Rather, the documents contain internal communications between Agency officers for the purpose of responding to the third party's enquiry. I am not satisfied this type of information falls within the scope of section 35(1)(b). Accordingly, I am satisfied it is not exempt from release under section 35(1)(b).

Would disclosure be contrary to the public interest as it would be reasonably likely to impair the ability of the Agency to obtain similar information in the future?

38. Section 35(1)(b) also requires I be satisfied that, if the confidential information were to be disclosed, others in the position of the communicator would be reasonably likely not to provide similar information to the Agency in the future.
39. The public interest test in section 35(1)(b) is narrow, in that it is directed toward the impact release would have on an agency's ability to obtain the same type of information in the future. The exemption under section 35(1)(b) will not be made out if an agency's impairment goes no further than showing potential communicators of the information may be less candid than they would otherwise have been in providing information in the future.¹⁷
40. The Agency submits:

[The Agency] relies on managers and lessees of Crown land to contact [the Agency] for assistance and advice, and to volunteer various information not mandated by legislation. It is vital that these stakeholders remain assured that their informal communications with [the Agency], especially in relation to sensitive matters, will be kept confidential when necessary. Releasing such communications would be contrary to the public interest because it would be reasonably likely to impair [the Agency's] ability to obtain similar information in the future.

Based on the consultation feedback received from [the third party], it is apparent that disclosing the documents would limit or deter [the third party] from seeking advice from [the Agency] about similar matters in the future. It is also reasonably likely that members of other community groups in similar circumstances would be deterred, especially community groups locked in ongoing disputes...

41. I accept the Agency relies on information provided by third parties on a voluntarily or unsolicited basis to effectively manage and coordinate enquiries from the public.
42. In the particular circumstances of this matter, I am of the view the Agency's impairment goes no further than the 'people involved would be somewhat less candid than they otherwise might be' if information in the documents was disclosed.¹⁸ In my opinion, where the correspondence is an enquiry relating to matters within the Agency's statutory functions and powers, whether made by an individual in their private capacity or on behalf of an association, I do not accept disclosure of this type of material would not be reasonably likely to impair the ability of the Agency to receive similar enquires from members of the public in the future, irrespective of whether there are ongoing disputes between members of the public.
43. I note disclosure of internal communications would not be likely to disclose the entire interactions between Agency officers and the third party. While inferences may be drawn from the communication by the Applicant, I am not satisfied its disclosure would impair the Agency's ability to obtain similar information in the future.
44. Accordingly, I am satisfied certain information is not exempt from release under section 35(1)(b), as set out in the Schedule of Documents in Annexure 1.

Section 25 – Deletion of exempt or irrelevant information

45. Section 25 requires an agency to grant access to an edited copy of a document where it is practicable to delete exempt or irrelevant information and the applicant agrees to receiving such a copy.
46. Determining what is 'practicable' requires consideration of the effort and editing involved in making the deletions 'from a resources point of view'¹⁹ and the effectiveness of the deletions. Where deletions would render a document meaningless, they are not 'practicable', and release of the document is not required under section 25.²⁰
47. I have considered the effect of deleting exempt and irrelevant information from the documents. I am satisfied it is practicable to delete such information from the majority of the documents, as to do so would not require substantial time and effort, and the edited documents will retain meaning.
48. Providing the Applicant with an edited copy of Document 27A, however, with names, addresses, [type of] site details and customer numbers deleted would render the fee charges meaningless. Accordingly, I am satisfied it is not practicable to delete the exempt information in accordance with section 25 and access is refused in full.

Conclusion

49. On the information before me, I am satisfied certain information is exempt under section 33(1), however, I am not satisfied the documents are exempt from release under section 35(1)(b).
50. Accordingly, my decision on the Applicant's request differs from the Agency's decision in that I have decided to release additional information in the documents to the Applicant.
51. Where I am satisfied it is practicable to provide the Applicant with an edited copy of a documents with irrelevant information deleted in accordance with section 25, access is granted to the document in part. Where I am satisfied it is not practicable to do so, access is refused in full.
52. The Schedule of Documents in Annexure 1 sets out my decision in relation to each document.
53. A marked-up copy of certain documents subject to review will also be provided to the Agency showing information to be released in accordance with my decision.

Review rights

54. If the Applicant is not satisfied with my decision, they are entitled to apply to the VCAT for it to be reviewed.²¹
55. The Applicant may apply to VCAT for a review up to 60 days from the date they are given this Notice of Decision.²²
